Medical assistance around the clock for crew members at sea and on shore, repatriation and rehabilitation at seafarer's permanent residence. An onshore coverage of medical expenses both for the crew on leave and for their families and dependents on 365 day-a-year basis is a benefit that helps promote staff loyal to their employer. For every medical case, GVA checks the medical service needed against the seafarer's medical insurance plan and any applicable deductible, and arranges direct payment to the medical facility within the limits of coverage. The key components of GVA managing an onshore medical programme are the following: appropriate medical service for a seafarer - direct settlement of claim - cost control for the insurer or ship owner. Background: Seafarers undergo periodic medical examination for their employment. This information in most cases is not effectively used when requesting for medical assistance during service on board ships. The medical history of an individual is important for provision of medical care and can be critical to the outcome. There is growing adoption of digital applications and electronic health records that are adding great value to the care provided. The Seafarer's Health Passport (SHP) is an application specifically designed for improving the quality of medical assistance provided to seafarers b MEDICAL ASSISTANCE ADMINISTRATION CHRONIC CARE REDI- REFERENCE GUIDE Application of Need for Medical Assistance.
